Of course, one can get around this by paying $10 per month for YouTube Red, which provides an ad-free viewing experience and the ability to save videos or songs for offline playback on mobile devices.. But there are other ways to circumvent this challenge without the need for a subscription, assuming you don't mind skating on the side of the legal pond where the ice is considerably thinner.

Try this trick today and you'll discover it's not quite so simple, thanks to Google's renewed efforts to block downloads in favor of the advertising revenue generated by streaming.. Download, convert, transfer is a $20 Mac application from Softorino, the folks behind the insanely useful and clever software.. In just a few clicks, Softorino YouTube Converter makes it easy to download, convert, and transfer YouTube videos to your Mac or iOS devices.. There was a time not so long ago when downloading YouTube videos to a personal computer required a mere click of the mouse.
